DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claim 3 is objected to because of the following informalities: In claim 3 the last line, "the" should be taken out. It would make the claim language read clearer.

Appropriate correction is required.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 6 and 9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

With respect to claim 6, the prior art does not teach or render obvious the total combination as claimed including an infeed device wherein the deformation element is formed as a profiled flexible metallic rail.

With respect to claim 9, the prior art does not teach or render obvious the total combination as claimed including the infeed device having the deformation element formed as a sidewise disposed U-shaped profile and is slidable laterally onto said infeed triangle.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5,7,8 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Brueckl.

Brueckl teaches an infeed device (Fig. 1) for drawing a material web (01) into a web-fed rotary printing machine in an infeed direction, comprising an infeed channel (11), an infeed element (12) guidable in said infeed channel, and an infeed triangle (Fig. 1) releasably connectable to said infeed element said infeed triangle having fastened thereto a leading end of the material web to be drawn into the rotary printing machine and said infeed triangle having on a side thereof facing towards said infeed channel a deformation (06) extending at least approximately perpendicularly to the infeed direction.

With respect to claim 3, the infeed device (Fig. 1), wherein the deformation (6) element extends parallel to said side of said infeed triangle facing towards said infeed channel.

With respect to claim 4, the infeed device wherein the deformation (Fig. 2, 6) has a form selected from the group thereof consisting of wave forms and sawtooth forms.

With respect to claim 5, the infeed device wherein the deformation (Fig. 2, 6) formed on said infeed triangle has a height exceeding the width of said channel slot formed in said infeed channel and through which said infeed element extends outwardly.

With respect to claim 7, the infeed device wherein the deformation (Fig. 2) element as viewed in the infeed direction has a series of elevations and depressions.

With respect to claim 8, the infeed device wherein the deformation (Fig. 2) element has a length exceeding the width thereof by a multiple.

With respect to claim 10, the infeed device wherein the deformation (Fig. 2) element is fastenable to a side of said infeed triangle selected from the group consisting of an upper side (03) and an underside(07) thereof.

With respect to claim 2 , the infeed device including a deformation element for forming said deformation, it would be inherent that something would create the deformation that is formed on the apparatus.
